

Cambridge Society for the Application of Research

In collaboration with:

Bluesci

Science and the Media

Vivienne Parry,

Science writer and broadcaster, OBE

WOLFSON LECTURE THEATRE, CHURCHILL COLLEGE

7.30 p.m., Monday 31st October, 2011

In a provocative presentation, writer and broadcaster Vivienne Parry considers science's often troubled relationship with the media and gives her top tips for a successful and happy marriage. Warning: may include audience participation.

About the speaker:

Vivienne Parry is a writer and broadcaster. Science trained, she presents many programmes for Radio 4 including 'Am I Normal?' and is a regular contributor for the Times and Guardian. In the past she has presented the iconic BBC TV show 'Tomorrow's World', reported for Panorama and been the lead columnist on the News of the World. She is also a council member of the MRC and is Vice Chair of Council at UCL.

Additional note

The CSAR Lectures are open to all; CSAR members are admitted free. Non-members are asked to make a nominal donation of £3.00.

Students of Cambridge are entitled to free CSAR membership and therefore free admittance.
Membership Secretary:

Dr Nigel Bennée
Lucidata House
Selwyn Close
Great Shelford
Cambridge
CB22 5HA

Tel: 01223 846100

nigel@lucidata.com

Coffee and biscuits will be available in the Wolfson Foyer from around 7pm until the start of the lecture. Location information: <http://www.chu.cam.ac.uk/about/visitors/directions.php>

The talk will be held in the lecture theatre in Wolfson Hall (4):

